

The National Jewish Memorial Wall Launches a New Online Service Providing a Place to Share and Remember a Family's Legacy with Relatives and Friends

The National Jewish Memorial Wall takes the best of the digital photo sharing and family history preserving websites and combines them into a unique site that will commemorate and preserve memories for future generations.

Miami, FL (PRWEB) September 25, 2012 -- The National Jewish Memorial Wall is proud to introduce www.njmw.org. This site is dedicated to commemorating, organizing, and sharing a family's legacy with relatives, friends, and the next generation. From fond memories, career and life achievements, to family recipes users are able to learn and discover new aspects of their loved ones life.

“With the National Jewish Memorial Wall, no-one will be forgotten”, says Steven Allen, Executive Director of Bet Breira Samuel Or Orlom. “We are thrilled to be part of this venture which will greatly benefit the entire Jewish community across the US.”

The National Jewish Memorial Wall takes the best of the digital photo sharing and family history preserving websites and combines them into a unique site that will commemorate and preserve memories for future generations. Our goal is to help families bridge generations by providing a platform to remember understand their heritage.

About National Jewish Memorial Wall: The National Jewish Memorial Wall merges present day technology with traditional Jewish rituals. It is a widely observed Jewish tradition to commemorate the passing of a loved one by purchasing a plaque in memory of. The National Jewish Memorial Wall provides a location where relatives and friends, separated by physical location can interact and perpetuate the life of one who has passed.